

Introducing Rick Sanders, Live-Looping Solo Performer

Rick Sanders is a Bay Area-based musician specializing in creating solo acoustic performances with a full band sound. While Rick doesn't use any backing tracks in any of his shows, by way of a loop pedal he creates a full band experience live in front of his audience. This gives every song a sense of “fullness”, with percussion, backing vocals, harmonies, and instrumental solos. It also adds a visual component to his performance, with every song becoming a literal dance of guitar work, singing, and pedal tapping.

Rick's repertoire is extremely varied, featuring songs from the 60s to modern day, including songs from artists as varied as Johnny Cash, Ed Sheeran, Jim Croce, The Cure, America, and the Goo Goo Dolls. Rick reads the room and can pick songs that fit the vibe, but also frequently takes requests from audience members, whether in a pub scene or a private setting.

“Rick provided entertainment for my husband's 60th birthday. He has a great voice, repertoire, and easy going manner that works well with our crowd. He is very easy to work with and we won't hesitate to invite him again in the future.”

“We invited Rick to perform at an intimate dinner party for our Wedding Anniversary. He did an amazing job! The music was terrific and really made our event special. Rick is extremely talented and a pleasure to work with! We highly recommend!”
